

How to Play the game FOUR OF A KIND

Number of Players: Four

Game winning Objective:

The object of the game is for a player to collect any group of four special cards, in this case it could be either four Feng Shui cards (any four from F1, F2, F3, F4 or F5) or four GD, E1, S2, W3 or N4 cards. The cards belonging to the three suits of the Dragon Deck, namely Circles, Bamboos and Scripts have no special significance in the playing of this game.

The group of four winning cards can be from the four or more cards he has to show (see below) or from his hand of four additional cards in his possession.

How to play the game:

Each of the four players are dealt eight cards each, one at a time. The remaining cards are to be put at the center of the playing surface accessible by all four players.

If any player receives a group of four cards after the cards are dealt, the game ends immediately and he or she is declared the winner.

If nobody has a possession of four winning card as a group, then each player has to show four cards up front. Starting with the dealer, he shall have two choices:

1. He can choose to draw a card and if he does not win, he has to add one additional card to the group of four that are already being shown.
2. Or he can exchange one of his shown cards with any one of the groups of four cards shown by the other three players.
3. If he does not win, then the turn passes on to the player to his right.

This player has the same choices as the first player. This also applies to the other two players to follow.

When the turn to play comes back to the original player, he has one extra choice he can now make in addition to the previous two and that is he can exchange one of the cards in his possession with one that are being shown. The other three players to follow also has this extra choice.

The game goes on until somebody wins. If when all the cards are drawn and nobody still wins, then the game goes on with the choice for drawing a card eliminated. The game will end when one of the four players collect the group of four cards stipulated.

